CODE OF BUSINESS ETHICS

Weyco Group, Inc. (“Weyco Group”) maintains a reputation for integrity and honesty, and for acting in good faith in all of its dealings. This reputation has been established over the years by the responsible conduct of every employee of Weyco Group.

Weyco Group’s Code of Business Ethics captures in written form those ethical principles that we have always followed in the conduct of our business. In that sense it introduces no new standards of responsible conduct. The Code is provided to all Weyco Group employees as a clear statement of the Company's standards for ethical behavior. It is also applicable to the Company’s non-employee directors.

Weyco Group, Inc.’s Code of Business Ethics will be rigorously enforced. Any employee who violates the Code is subject to disciplinary action and possible discharge.

1. Conflicts of Interest must be Avoided.

Your conduct in the performance of your duties for the Company must be honest and ethical, including the ethical handling of actual or apparent conflicts of interest between personal and professional interests. You should not engage in any act that might result in a conflict (or even the appearance of a conflict) between Weyco Group’s interests and your own or another person's or organization's interests. You should also be free from any interest or influence that would make it difficult to give Weyco Group your best efforts and undivided attention.

2. Business Opportunities belong to Weyco Group.

You should not take advantage or allow others to take advantage of any business opportunity which Weyco Group has (or can reasonably be expected to have) an interest. Business opportunities of Weyco Group include any opportunity discovered through the use of Company property, information or position.

3. Outside Work is Permitted but with Limitations.

You may do a limited amount of work for outside organizations on your own time if this work does not interfere in any way with the effective performance of your job with Weyco Group. However, the other organizations must not have business dealings with or compete with Weyco Group, and your outside work must not be harmful to Weyco Group’s interests or reputation.

4. Ownership of Outside Organizations is Restricted.

You may not own (directly or indirectly) any interest in an outside organization or serve as a director of that organization, if it competes in any way with Weyco Group, or has (or is likely to have) dealings with Weyco Group. However, you may own up to one percent (1%) of the shares of any public corporation regardless of its business dealings or competitive relationship with Weyco Group.

5. Accepting Payments, Gifts or Special Consideration from Outside Organizations is Prohibited.

You may not accept any payment or other special consideration from an outside organization in connection with your job at Weyco Group. You may not accept any gift having more than nominal value or a loan other than a normal bank loan from any such organization. You must avoid even the appearance of impropriety in any situation involving a supplier, customer or other organization that currently has (or is likely to have) business dealings with Weyco Group.

6. Improper Payments to Customers and Suppliers are Prohibited.

You must not be involved in any way with making any improper payment or offering any improper inducement to current (or likely) customers and suppliers, other business organizations or U.S. or foreign government agencies for the purpose of obtaining business or other advantages. This prohibition applies to activities such as offering bribes or kickbacks, paying excessive commissions or fees and providing inappropriate gifts or entertainment in connection with any Weyco Group business.

7. Political Contributions on Behalf of Weyco Group are Restricted.

No Weyco Group funds may be used for making contributions of any kind to any political organization or candidate or holder of any federal, state or local government office unless the contributions have been approved by Weyco Group's Chief Financial Officer. 8. Corporate Assets are Intended for Corporate Purposes.

Weyco Group's assets and the services of Weyco Group's personnel are intended to be used only for Weyco Group's business purposes. Do not communicate this information to outsiders unless you have been authorized to do so, and do not share this information with other employees except on a "need-to-know" basis. You should also follow any specific confidentiality procedures that may be issued from time-to-time. Using confidential information for your personal benefit or in any way not directly related to your duties as a Weyco Group employee is prohibited. Your obligation to keep this kind of information confidential continues even if you leave Weyco Group.

10. Our Actions in the Marketplace will be Lawful, Ethical and Fair.

You have an obligation to protect Weyco Group's relations with its customers and suppliers by acting lawfully, ethically and fairly. You may not take or facilitate any action to fraudulently influence, coerce, manipulate or mislead Weyco Group's independent accountants for the purpose of rendering the Weyco Group's financial statements materially misleading.

13. Weyco Group's Records must be Properly Maintained.

You must always record information accurately, honestly and in accordance with all relevant accounting, recordkeeping and document retention standards. No employee is ever authorized to knowingly enter or maintain false or misleading information in corporate books, records or reports. Also, no circumstances justify keeping "off-the-books" accounts in any form, particularly accounts established to facilitate or disguise questionable or illegal payments.

Employees in possession of corporate records are responsible for the use and safekeeping of such records and must take all prudent measures to safeguard the privacy of employees and other individuals with respect to personal information contained in such records.

Weyco Group business records must be maintained for the periods specified in any document retention policy of Weyco Group in effect. Records may be destroyed only at the expiration of the pertinent period. In no case may documents involved in a pending or threatened litigation, government inquiry or under subpoena or other information request be discarded or destroyed, regardless of the normal record retention policy. In addition, you may never destroy, alter or conceal, with an improper purpose, any record or otherwise impede any official proceeding, either personally, in conjunction with, or by attempting to influence, another person.

It is our policy not to retaliate for any reports made in good faith. You may also report concerns regarding the matters addressed in this policy, suspected misconduct or any questionable accounting or auditing matters with respect to Weyco Group on a confidential and anonymous basis by making a report to the Chairman of the Audit Committee through a procedure established by the Company. The Chairman of the Audit Committee is responsible to keep his/her identity confidential unless the person agrees to be identified, identification is necessary to allow Weyco Group or law enforcement officials to investigate or respond effectively to the report, identification is required by law, or the report is baseless and not made in good faith.

18. Refer Any Questions to Management.

No set of ethical guidelines can cover every situation that might arise. If you have any questions or concerns about the ethical propriety of any actions you have taken or may be about to take, you should seek clarification.
